1. Write and run a C++ program to do the following:
   ▪ use a for-loop to initialize an array with 10 elements
   ▪ display on screen the elements in the initial array
   ▪ perform mathematical manipulations on each element
   ▪ print the new array

2. From text, problem 60 (part a only)