

Video Grading Rubric
TCO 325

Points 100	Elements of Review
(5)		The video contains an opening introduction of the team.
(5)		The video is free of background noise.
(10)		The video information is well organized and camera work is steady and purposeful.
(10)		The instructional components being shown are clear and can easily be seen.
(10)		The composition of the video shows an understanding of how to explain a procedure.
(10)		All shots are clearly focused and well framed. Close-ups are used to focus attention.
(10)		In the video, the group worked together with all members participating equally.
(10)		The video successfully fulfills the requirements of the assignment – helping someone understand how to do something.
(10)		The lighting is adequate; additional lighting is used if needed.
(10)		Talking heads scenes are used when crucial to explaining the steps.
(10)		The audio is clear and helps communicate the main idea.