Course Purpose:

This course is designed to help you cultivate a basic level of proficiency in all four language skills (reading, writing, listening and speaking). You will learn the basic structures and vocabulary of German while understanding fundamental cultural practices common to native speakers. This course is appropriate for students who have had less than two years of high-school German study or complete novices to the language. In this course you will acquire a basic ability to listen, speak, read, and write in German while becoming familiar with everyday culture in German-speaking regions.

Students requiring accommodations or modifications for a disability should inform the instructor at the close of the first class meeting or as soon as possible. The instructor will refer you to the ACCESS and Accommodation Office to document your disability, determine eligibility for accommodations under the ADAAA/Section 504 and to request a Faculty Accommodation Form. Disability accommodations or status will not be indicated on academic transcripts. In order to receive accommodations in a class, students with sensory, learning, psychological, physical or medical disabilities must provide their instructor with a Faculty Accommodation Form to sign. Students must return the signed form to the ACCESS Coordinator. A new form must be requested each semester. Students with a history of a disability perceived as having a disability or with a current disability who does not wish to use academic accommodations are also strongly encouraged to register with the ACCESS and Accommodation Office and request a Faculty Accommodation Form each semester. For further information, please contact Carole Burrowbridge, Director and ADA/504 Coordinator, at 301-2778 or visit the ACCESS and Accommodation Office website at http://www.mercer.edu/disabilityservices
As in all courses, you are expected to observe the provisions of the Mercer Honor Code. Unless otherwise authorized, you may not solicit help on any class assignment from native or near-native speakers of German. I will report any perceived violation of the Honor Code immediately to the Honor Council, without exception.

I reserve the right to determine on a case-by-case basis whether any circumstances (e.g. hospitalization, family tragedy, official Mercer function) make it appropriate to waive any policy described below.

Attendance Policy and Class Participation

You are expected to attend each class session and to contribute constructively to classroom activities. Absences will affect your final grade adversely. Unless you provide me and/or the Dean’s office with a valid written excuse for an absence, I will consider your absence unexcused. For each class session missed after your sixth unexcused absence, two points will be deducted from your final course grade.

Cell phones, text messengers and pagers must be turned off before entering the classroom or language lab. First-time violators will receive a warning; for every subsequent infraction five points will be deducted from the final course grade.

Homework

Homework will be assigned on a daily basis and must be submitted by the beginning of the next class meeting (ideally, an hour or so before class begins). Late submissions receive NO credit. Assignments will be based primarily on web-based materials and hard-copy worksheets. Each component of a homework assignment is graded (3=excellent; 2=good; 1=adequate; 0=unacceptable, late, or not submitted). The total number of points accrued by the end of the semester constitutes ten percent of your final grade. Homework assignments and other ancillary materials will be updated regularly on the Blackboard site for this course. Any special group projects that are assigned will be graded under the rubric “Homework.” Given the number and variety of homework assignments, there are no provisions for any extra-credit work.

In an ongoing effort to improve the quality of instruction, each student enrolled in this course is required to complete an end-of-semester course evaluation. Students failing to submit the evaluation by the deadline will be assigned the grade of “Incomplete.”
Cultural PowerPoint/Prezi

By the beginning of September you will identify three other students with whom you would like to research a particular German festival or holiday. To be specific:

Bundesfeiertag (1 August; Schweiz)

Oktoberfest (19 September-4 October): cultural traditions

Oktoberfest (19 September-4 October): current practices

Tag der Deutschen Einheit (3 October)

Nationalfeiertag (26 October; Österreich)

9. November

Advent (29 November)

St Niklaus Tag (6 December)

Heiliger Abend/Weihnachten (24-25 December)

Silvester/Neujahrstag (31 December-1 January)

Your group will then create a PowerPoint or Prezi on this topic and make a presentation in class (in English!). I will evaluate your presentation according to the rubric distributed in class; you will evaluate the quality of contributions made by each of your team members.

Compositions

Objectives and evaluation criteria for each written composition will be assigned at least one week prior to the deadline for submission. Late submissions will be penalized 10 points for every calendar day past the deadline. If a rewrite is required or desired, you must hand in the revision by the second deadline. The revision will account for 35% of the composition grade (the original draft constituting the remaining 65%).

Quizzes and Tests

In-class quizzes last approximately 5-10 minutes and will be announced at least one class day in advance. From time to time you may be required to complete a grammar, vocabulary, or listening comprehension quiz electronically via Blackboard. The average of all your quiz grades will be considered to have the value of one major test. You may drop your lowest test grade (or two lowest quiz grades) at the end of the semester.

Three major, hour-long tests are tentatively scheduled for Monday, 14 September; Monday, 19 October; and Monday, 23 November. If necessary, we can negotiate adjustments to this schedule in class. These tests are comprehensive, emphasizing the material presented in the most recent chapter, while including items from previous tests. Tests and quizzes may NOT be made up unless your absence had been excused by the University or Dean’s Office.

The final examination must be taken on Monday, 7 December, between 2 and 5 pm. The final exam will be comprehensive. Special emphasis will be placed on material covered in the final three weeks of the semester.
Access to Course Grades

Grades will be posted and updated weekly on Blackboard. I strongly encourage you to check these data on a regular basis; please report any discrepancies or inaccuracies to me immediately. I also invite you to discuss your progress with me as often as you wish. I will not discuss your grades over the phone, via e-mail, or with anyone but you. If you receive a failing grade on any test, you must consult with me immediately.
